* AUTOBEST International jury votes leading new-energy vehicle manufacturer the world's best car company.

* Accolade recognizes a year of astonishing growth, including the production of the 10 millionth new-energy vehicle.

* Rapid expansion into European market now encompasses more than 20 countries and 300 sales points, with first car factory on the way.

Amsterdam, the Netherlands – BYD has been voted the world's best car company by AUTOBEST, Europe's leading independent car awards. The 31 journalists on the jury, representing an audience of millions across the continent, voted unanimously to give BYD the 'COMPANYBEST 2025' award.

Coming a year after AUTOBEST voted the BYD DOLPHIN as the 'Best Buy Car of Europe 2024', the latest accolade recognizes BYD's progress in the global car market. In the 30th year since the company was founded, it has set a number of significant benchmarks, including the production of its 10 millionth new-energy vehicle, a feat unmatched by any other brand.

AUTOBEST Chairman Dan Vardie described the award as "independent recognition of the outstanding performance of the company". He added: "The sky is the limit for BYD. It is spectacular how it develops in terms of technologies, but also new models and even new brands under the BYD company umbrella."

BYD Executive President Stella Li said: "We're delighted to receive this recognition from AUTOBEST's jury. As BYD celebrates 30 years of driving change, we are more committed than ever to delivering sustainable mobility to as many people as possible – with our stated goal of cooling the earth by one degree. We're still relatively new in Europe but already we are seeing that when customers try our products, they love the advanced technologies that they feature. We aim to reach many more of these consumers in 2025 and beyond."

RAPIDLY EXPANDING EUROPEAN LINE-UP

BYD made its production-car debut in Europe just over two years ago, launching three new models to the market at once. It ends 2024 with that original range more than doubled, thanks to innovative, high-tech products like the ATTO 3, DOLPHIN and SEAL – and the latest arrival in the range, the high-performance SEALION 7 SUV.

BYD has also responded to changing customer demands by introducing its Super DM hybrid technology to Europe. Its debut model, the SEAL U DM-i, can travel for more than 1,000 kilometres with a full charge and a full tank of petrol, making it the ideal choice for consumers who want an electric-car daily experience mixed with long-distance flexibility.

These successful introductions have been underpinned by cutting-edge technologies, such as BYD's trademark Blade Battery, which uses lithium iron phosphate for greater durability and safety than traditional chemistries, while maximising space efficiency to improve vehicle range and cabin packaging.

BYD's European presence now extends to more than 20 countries, and the company's sales network in the region will surpass 500 outlets by the end of 2025. Within the same timeframe, BYD plans to open a European manufacturing base in Hungary.

The AUTOBEST 'COMPANYBEST 2025' award will be handed out officially during the 24th AUTOBEST gala, due to be held in May 2025.

Shenzhen, China – BYD, the world's leading manufacturer of new energy vehicles (NEVs and power batteries, today marked a historic moment in its 30th anniversary celebration with the roll-off of its 10-millionth NEV at its Xiaomo Production Base in the Shenzhen-Shanwei Special Cooperation Zone. This significant achievement underscores BYD's unwavering commitment to sustainable transportation and reinforces its position as a global leader in the automotive industry.

At the event, BYD's Chairman and President, Mr. Wang Chuanfu, delivered a keynote address reflecting on the company's remarkable transformation from a small startup with just 20 employees to a multinational corporation with nearly one million staff worldwide. Achieving the milestone of 10 million NEVs is a testament to BYD's steadfast commitment to sustainable development. The company is now the first automaker in the world to reach this groundbreaking figure. Remarkably, BYD took 15 years to produce the first 5 million NEVs and achieved the next 5 million in just 15 months, demonstrating the company's strategic focus on new energy vehicles and its continuous technological advancement.

The 10-millionth vehicle, a DENZA Z9, was presented to Mr. Feng Ji, Founder and CEO of Game Science and the visionary behind the critically acclaimed game Black Myth: Wukong.

Mr. Wang emphasized that BYD's success is built on a foundation of bold vision, relentless execution, and unwavering perseverance. He attributed the company's achievements to its strong technological capabilities and deeply embedded engineering culture. "The soul of BYD's engineers is the soul of our company," he said.

To provide an in-depth look into BYD's culture, Qin Shuo, a renowned Chinese financial journalist and author, conducted interviews with nearly 100 mid-to-senior level executives and employees. These insights have been compiled into the book The Soul of Engineers.

Looking to the future, Mr. Wang outlined BYD's strategic roadmap and introduced the BYD Basic Guidelines—a comprehensive document that encapsulates the company's foundational principles, historical experiences, and forward-looking strategies. This framework will guide BYD's continued growth and innovation in the years ahead.

Looking ahead, BYD will invest 100 billion yuan in developing intelligent technologies that integrate artificial intelligence with automotive systems, driving comprehensive upgrades of its entire vehicle lineup. This commitment will ensure BYD remains at the forefront of technological advancement, maintaining a competitive edge in the global market while fulfilling people's aspirations for a better life. On October 20th, BYD announced a global strategic partnership with Black Myth: Wukong, becoming the game's exclusive automotive brand partner.

Black Myth: Wukong, hailed as China's first AAA game, surpassed one million sales within its first hour of release. In just three days, global sales exceeded 10 million, with over 3 million concurrent players across all platforms, catapulting it into the ranks of the world's top single-player games.

On a global scale, BYD has become the world's top seller of new energy vehicles (NEVs, with its vehicles present in over 95 countries and regions, and more than 400 cities. Through continuous technological advancements and product innovations, BYD has emerged as a pioneer in the NEV industry.

Both BYD and Black Myth: Wukong share a similar journey of perseverance—each excelling in their respective industries after years of dedication. BYD and China's gaming industry have both evolved from humble beginnings to become industry leaders, a success deeply rooted in their commitment to technological advancement.

With over six years of development, Black Myth: Wukong utilizes the industry-leading Unreal Engine 5, achieving world-class standards in graphics and smooth gameplay. The game has been well-received globally, marking a significant breakthrough for China's AAA games.

Technological innovation is the DNA of BYD. According to its financial report for the first half of 2024, BYD invested RMB 20.2 billion in R&D; a 42% year-on-year increase, setting a new record. This investment exceeds its net profit by RMB 6.6 billion. In the same period, BYD ranked first among over 5,300 A-share listed companies in R&D; expenditure.

BYD's massive R&D; investment has provided it with extensive technological reserves. Its core technologies, including DM technology, Blade Battery, e-Platform 3.0, DiSus Body Control system, and e4 (Yisifang platform, have disrupted the market and addressed user pain points, allowing more consumers to experience the benefits of cutting-edge technology.

In addition to the online gaming frenzy, Black Myth: Wukong has sparked a tourism boom. To enhance the game's realism, the development team spent four years scanning over 100 famous landmarks across China. Upon release, the game not only allowed Chinese players to appreciate these historical sites but also ignited a global interest in the "Journey to the West" story, bringing Chinese mythology to the world stage.

In terms of promoting Chinese culture, BYD stands out as the only automaker to name its products after Chinese dynasties, such as Xia, Qin, Han, Tang, and Song. It also draws from traditional elements for technology names, and used Oracle Bone Script as the inspiration for the logo of its premium brand, YANGWANG. Furthermore, BYD has initiated projects such as Dragon Boat to the Olympics and the BYD National Treasure Protection Program, actively contributing to cultural preservation and social responsibility.

As part of their strategic collaboration, BYD and Game Science, the developer of Black Myth: Wukong, have agreed to cooperate on the "Protection of Chinese Relics and National Treasures" initiative. BYD will work with Game Science to digitize historical landmarks for future restoration efforts. In 2024, the two companies will start in Shanxi, where many of the game's scenes are set, collaborating with local museums to conduct digital scans of national treasures. Future plans for other provinces will be announced to support the preservation of historical assets.
